Monroe Footy Tips - the competition to back in 2008

Monroe's AFL, NRL and Super 14s tipping competitions are back in 2008 so now's your chance to enter and be part of one of the biggest online tipping competitions.

With more than 2000 registrations for last year's tipping, the 2008 competition is set to be fierce with organisers expecting even more entrants fighting it out for some great prizes.

Top weekly tipsters will receive a Monroe Merchandise Pack including a sports bag, cap, stubby holders and shock absorber key ring, while the overall winner in each competition will win a Monroe Display Fridge valued at $2500.

"Last year's response was fantastic – with a record number of participants and great feedback from participants," said Brydon Tweddell, Brand Manager for Tenneco – the makers of Monroe shock absorbers.

"The big winners last year were first time tipsters, so even if you know very little about sport it is definitely worth having a go to try and win a prize!"

Now in its third year, Monroe Footy Tips is a free competition run online at a dedicated website.

Anyone in the automotive trade from Australia or New Zealand can enter and entrants can keep track of their standing online throughout the competition.

"Tipsters can see how they rate against other businesses, automotive professions and states with a number of unique features on the website allowing direct comparison," Brydon said.

"Taking part is free and it's a great way of getting involved in some friendly competition with others from the automotive industry!"

Competitions begin early in the year, with the first Super 14s match set for February 15. The NRL draw will follow with a match on March 14 and the AFL competition begins on March 20.
